Cranbourne House

Residential

Cranbourne House is a residential home in Toller, Bradford, supporting adults with learning disabilities, dual diagnoses, and associated complex needs like epilepsy.

The home provides 24-hour support and features seven comfortable en-suite bedrooms, as well as a self-contained flat designed for someone who benefits from a quieter, more independent environment.

The shared spaces are bright and inviting, with two communal lounges, kitchen and dining areas. The sensory room is a true highlight - a serene, glow-in-the-dark galaxy created by colleagues and the people we support. It's a space that inspires calm, creativity, and connection. Outside, the large garden is perfect for relaxing on sunny days or enjoying group activities.

At Cranbourne, every day is guided by our Strive model of support - helping each person build daily living skills, confidence, and meaningful connections in a friendly, caring environment.

Person Specification

The people living at Cranbourne are looking for kind, caring housemates who may need personal care support or have sensory needs, that enjoy shared activities, want to grow their independence, and be part of a warm, welcoming home.
