

Bridlington

Residential Care
Home in Scarborough

Welcome to Bridlington

Bridlington is a residential home where adults with Prader-Willi syndrome can feel understood, enjoy meaningful routines and build a fulfilling life connected to friends, activities and the local seaside.

Bridlington is a spacious residential home where adults with Prader-Willi syndrome can feel understood and part of a lively community. The home includes nine en-suite bedrooms and three flats, providing different levels of privacy, personal space and independence.

Shared areas include a large communal lounge, dining room, activity space and garden, creating plenty of room for relaxing, socialising and enjoying everyday moments together.

Support is shaped around each person. Through Strive, our model of support, people are encouraged to work towards goals that feel meaningful to them.

Specialist PBS, MDT input and trauma-informed practice help colleagues understand people's experiences, communication and wellbeing. Our experienced team also receives training in Prader-Willi syndrome, diabetes, PBS and NAPPI, supporting care that feels safe, consistent and genuinely personal.

This is ideal for...

- An adult with a confirmed diagnosis of Prader-Willi syndrome.
- Someone who enjoys socialising and spending time with others.
- A person who values regular community activities and days out
- Someone suited to a mixed-age and mix-gender home.
- A person who benefits from tailored routines and consistent support.

Flexible Living Options

Nine en-suite bedrooms and three flats offer a thoughtful balance of privacy and companionship, as well as opportunities to transition to greater independence.
